We only want to carry it and share the link, it is best to have the destination pronate-untied, in the upper right corner right of the Record & Share shortcut that you've downloaded. Additionally, to maximize the utility of this shortcut, you might want to add it to your Home screen, where it will appear like an app icon. Source: iMore And that's it. Tap the + button or - button to increase or decrease the wait time. While I would typically go through step by step to teach you how to build these shortcuts for yourself, they're kind of involved. Once you've tapped "Use Video," the rest of the shortcut, from saving the video to iCloud or Dropbox, to getting the link, to sending that link to your contacts, gets taken care of automatically in the background. What I am going to do is take you through the shortcut and tell you how to set it up for your particular needs. The default is Medium, but you can also choose High or Low. The following instructions are for setting up the iCloud version of the shortcut, but the Dropbox version is the same, minus the Wait action, which isn't necessary, based on how Dropbox creates links. Specify a destination for your video in iCloud or Dropbox if it's different than the default. Source: iMore Now, you just need to allow untrusted shortcuts, which you do like this: Open Settings on your iPhone or iPad. Source: iMore After that, you can add this Record & Share shortcut. Tap Show More on the Camera action. Tap on a shortcut that you want to add to your library. library.
